ARE YOU GOING SOMEWHERE?

By ED C. UREN

We are old fashioned enough to express regret over the dismantling of the Narrow Gauge in 1943, but we were told that the rails were obsolete and that service over the highway would be much quicker and more convenient.

Be that as it may, there was never a time in the history of the Narrow Gauge when service between these cities and Colfax was more deplorable than it was last week.

Anyone who wished to come to these cities from Reno or points east had to stay up practically all night to reach Colfax by rail and then spend most of the next day, until 3:30 p. m. to be exact, to get home. Either that or hire a private conveiance..

We have before us a Transcript of June, 1879 which shows a Narrow Gauge train out of Colfax at 7:20 a. m. and another in the evening. At one time there were five daily trains each way. And these were the horse and buggy days when this same paper advertises ham and bacon at 11 cents, a roll of butter for 40 cents (two pounds, if you remember) and 8 cans of salmon or oysters for a dollar.

There are no daylight westbound trains on the Southern Pacific. All five trains or some obscure reason, arrive at the junction at the unseemly hours of midnight to 6 a. m.

The S. P. it is evident, makes no effort to get local traffic. They are apparently content to cater wholly to the through traffic with heavy 14 car trains which average a little less than 23 miles an hour between Reno and Colfax. No westbound traveler gets a glimpse of the scenic Sierras.

The through bus lines, of which there are about nine schedules each way out of Colfax, maintain a very good all night lunch service at the Colfax Hotel with plenty of light and heat. But those who favor the rails on account of having greater space to move around and a chance to go to bed, face the same local conditions they had 60 years ago, or if anything not so good.

You can get aboard one of these midnight strings of varnish by stumbling along the ballast in the dark for 500 or 600 feet or you can enter the front end and bump your way through six or seven cars and thirteen fighting doors before you hoist yourself into an upper and go through the gymnastics of getting settled into your little hammick, as the Irishman says.

Still, the rails themselves these days have about everything to offer that can be had at home. You can dine, you can loaf, or if you seek social relaxation there's the club car and George, the steward and his little ten-to-the-pint Paul Jones..

George is bulky, has only one eye, and a face that is as unchangeable as those carved on Mount Rushmore. Notwithstanding the jibes of those who want to be funny, George's expression never changes although he unburdens himself long enough to say that he has been with the railroad for thutty one years.

George is a busy man trying to keep up with the thirst of his hosts who are always line up awaiting the saturation point of the sitters. His take is good too; usually a quarter for every two served so he really doesn't netd any salary and probably doesn't get any.

Railroads east of the Rockies are making every effort to gain the good will of travelers. Some of them are taking a cue from the oil companits and are furnishing credit cards to their patrons so that one does not have to stand in line for tickets. He enters the car and either pays for his ticket on board or has it charged to his account.

As far as we are concerned, we still look back with a good many pangs of regret on the passing of our little railroad that never was guilty of making us wait all day to get home.

AN ERRROR

In the Thursday issue of the Nugget in the story headed "Grass Valley Civic Leader Supports Nevada City Airport" appeared an error. The incorrect statement was as followw: "The Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter inferring that these two towns "were asleep at the switch" in not applying for federal aid for airport construction."

No such letter has been received by that organization.

BIG LIGHTNING STORM; 4 INCHES OF RAIN FALL

A violent electrical storm Tuesday night deluged this area with nearly three inches of rain and left the community in the dark from 10:30 to 11:30 p. m. One of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's distribution transformers was put out of operation at 10:30. The assumed cause was that lightning had caused a heavy surge of released electricity to race up the line to the transformer at the Grass Valley substation, which supplies this area.

Working rapidly, employees at the station cut the transformer over to another bank and lights went on in the two towns as electric service was restored at 11:30.

The lightning display was one of the most spectacular in recent years. Heavy blue flashes made night like day and brilliant chain lightning streaked down through the middle of the great flashes.

Because of the lack of strong wind no poles or lines were reported down and no fuses blown.

The Forest Service reported that the rain prevailed clear over the Summit, and measured total rainfall for the storms as follows: Nevada City 4.08 inches, Camptonville 4.00 inches, Downieville 5.2 inches and Forest Hill 2.87 inches.

TINY PRIZE PUP PUTS ON 'THE DOG'

HOW TO IMPRESS judges and win blue ribbons is, apparently, being explained by tiny "El Cid," Chihuahua prize-winner at the Milwaukee, Wisc., dog show. Listening intently is "Roseacre Cherie," a majestic collie, who hadn't been judged when the photo was taken. "El Cid" is owned by Mrs. E. D. Hinckley and the collie by Mrs. Donald Olson, her daughter, both of Winthrop Harbor, Illinois. (International)

PARK IMPROVEMENT MAIN TOPIC AT CHAMBER MEET

MANY PLANS FOR '47 OUTLINED BRISK LABOR RELATIONS DEBATE

NEVADA CITY: Interest at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night was focused primarily on youth recreation and on improving the city park, although a number of other topics came in for brisk discussion. Guests at the meeting were Ray J. Kronemyer, Executive Manager of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commrce and J. Paul Hughes, Jopamavi Country Club operator..

Discussion early in the meeting centered around the report of Ed Hewston, Recreation Committee chairman. Hewston touched on the possibility of a fund raising dance. Thomas H. Taylor mentioned the fact that the Youth Recreation Council, in conjunction with the high school, had already planned a dance in the near future. It was stated that a piano would be necessary, and Ray Spicklemier suggested one be obtained from Camp Beale. (Three pianos were donated by Nevada City to the camp early in the war.)

Later in the meeting, the discussion again returned to the improvement of Pioneers Park. Thomas H. Taylor suggested that out of the 4th of July money in the Chamber of Commerce funds $400 be earmarked solely for the improvement of the park.

He stated that the Whiskerinos had worked hard to make the Fourth celebration a success in the belief that money raised by the celebration would be used at the park. The chamber voted to accept Taylor's suggestion.

Ray Kroneweyer spoge on value of co-operation between the two cities. He recommended that Nevada City send a representative of its chamber of commerce to visit Grass Valley chamber meetings and said he thought it would be a good idea if Grass Valley did the same.

A statement of policy made recently by the Grass Valley chamber on labor relations was read by Harley Leete Jr., who suggested that the Nevada City chamber adopt the same resolution which in its original form was promulgated by the United States Chamber of Commerce. Leete remarked that he favored endorsement of the statement because he thought the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce ought to have a constructive policy on all matters of public interest and further, that endorsement would aid in increasing already existing unity between the two chambers of commerce. The statement, primarily a plea for fairness in labor relations, was discussed and it was decided to send members of the chamber mimeographed copies for their consideration, and for discussion at the next meeting.

Ray Spicklemier, reporting for the Ways and Means Committee, stated that tentative plans were being laid for a fund-raising minstrel show, to get money for park improvement. Roy Deeter, publicity chairman, said that she had written, and would soon circulate, a bulletin of local airport news to flight clubs in the west.

J. Paul Hughes described the "Trans-California Trail," a recreation project for the survey of which the state has appropriated $250,000. The proposed trail would go, at an altitude of from 1000 to 2000 feet, from Mexico to the Oregon border, passing through Nevada County on the way. "It's a natural," Hughes said. "Youth organizations need a place for horseback riding, camping and bicycling that will keep them off the highways."

It would also make for excellent projects for the Boy Scouts, in building shelters, fire places an developing water supplies, he continued.

J. (Baldy) Hilliard, reporting for the airport committee stated that progress was being made for final plans for submission to federal authorities with application for funds. President George Hansen said that he and City Councilman, Charles Veale were going to conduct negotiations with the object of purchasing more land for the airport.

The city and chamber are going ahead with plans for applying via the state, to the Reconstruction and Re-employment Commission for federal aid for the airport.

Not enough farmers belonged to the chamber of commerce, said Fred Bush, in a short talk emphasizing the importance of farming activities to this area.

Nevada County's exhibit at the state fair this summer was discussed. Ray Kronemer suggested that the chambers of commerce of the county get together and formulate a joint plan to be presented to the board of supervisors with a request for funds.

George Halstead related a humorous anecdote, detailing the difficulties of individual action on the park improvement program. His efforts last summer had involved a great deal of work, complicated instruction from an Indian, a deficiency of tar, and a final collapse due to lack of a valve of a certain type.

The meeting concluded with the introduction of members and guests of the meeting. J. Paul Hughes described his occupation as "waiting for spring."

H. F. Sofge, chamber secretary was absent, suffering from a bad cold. Mrs. Harold Deeter served as temporary secretary.

GRASS VALLEY: A boy, 15, picked up by the police, whose name they refused to divulge, confessed yesterday to robbing the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilson, 118 1-2 Bennett Street.

The police stated that though this is the first arrest in connection with a series of burglaries, more are expected. Clues indicate that the most of the looting was done by youths. Most of the house robberies occured in Marshall, Race, Bennett Streets and Colfax Avenue.

The youth, now committed to the juvenile court, confessed that he had stolen $18 in pennies, nickels and dimes. His spending of the money enabled the police to trace the crime to him.

COMMITS SUICIDE BY EATING ANT POISON POWDER

NEVADA CITY: John Kelly Wilcox, 36, was found dead in a rooming house here yesterday shortly before noon. Chief of Police Max Solaro was called by Mrs. Anna M. Merkel in charge of rooms, who stated that Wilcox was alive and apparently well at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon when she entered his room to make it up.

Dr. Norbert Frey was called. He stated the man had been dead for several hours. A bottle of ant powder was found beside the bed with some of the powder scattered on the bedding. Coroner Alvah Hooper stated all the evidence pointed to suicide but declined to say it was suicide until an autopsy ha been performed.

Wilcox was a veteran of the late war. He was employed until a few weeks ago as a cook in a local hotel. He leaves his wife Mrs. Violet Wilcox.

An autopsy performed on the body revealed that the cause of his death was fluoride poisoning. Fluoride was contained in the ant poison which he swallowed.

Private services are scheduled today at Hooper and Weaver Mortuary. The body will be sent to Kansas for interment.

BODY OF JAP FOUND FROZEN IN STREAM

NEVADA CITY: Returning from an investigation of the death of Sengoro Togami a Japanese aged 61 years near Truckee, Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins reports that the man was either pushed off or fell off a passenger train.

The body was extricated from Cold Stream, about three miles west of Truckee, as the stream emerges from a culvert. The fall from the train to bottom of the creek, Hoskins estimated was between 25 and 30 feet. The lower part of the body was frozen and ice had to be chipped away to recover the corpse..

The sheriff reports that $178.29 in currency and small coin was found in the dead man's pocket. According to a statement by Togami's son, Togami was returning from Chicago with his wife and daughter after a visit there and the family resides in Selma, Fresno County. The sheriff said there was some evidence that Togami had been drinking on the train. The remains have been sent to Selma. Togami disappeared December 21st or 22nd.

WIZARD OF ELECTRICITY

Thomas Alva Edison's vast contribution toward better lives for his fellow men will be commemorated during the week of February 9 to 15 with nation-wide observance of the 100th anniversary of his birth on February 11, 1847.

His electrical genius, expressed in more than a thousand inventions, wrought a revolution in the way of life of all mankind. There are very few phases of modern existence that do not depend in some degree upon electricity and no man has contributed more to the development of the electrical and allied industries than Edison. He is best known for his invention of a workable incandescent lamp, but he also invented electric meters, switches, an improved type of dynamo to supply his lamp, and other devices for the generation and distribution of electricity..

The 1097 patents awarded Edison are by far the largest number ever issued to one person by the United States Patent Office. His fertile brain devised not only spectacular inventions such as the phonograph and the motion picture camera, but also hundreds less well known that contributed to the development of telegraphy, the telephone, radio, electric railways, the cement industry, and others.

In 1928 Edison was honored with a special Congressional Gold Medal. Official figures at the time showed that companies producing his inventions had capital investments totaling 15 billion dollars. In the 1940 Congressional Record, Representative Albert L. Vreeland, of New Jersey, said: "A recent survey has shown that one of every nine people gainfully employed in the United States in all the transportation, communication, and mechanical industries owes his employment directly to the inventions of Thomas Edison."

Great as was his genius, Edison could not have achieved his remarkable enterprise and where other men might count on reward for risking financial support. Edison, like Lincoln, is a personification of American opportunity. The tribute America pays Thomas Edison today is a tribute not only to the man, but also a tribute to American freedom an enterprise.—Contributed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder now, sweet Liberty,
If men could see you as you are,
And follow on with faithful hearts
Beneath your banner and your star;
Would they then toil unceasingly,
Your justice and your rights preserve,
And learn that gifs your grace bestows
Are won alone by those who serve?

February, the birthday month, is with us once again and as its memorable days pass by, we pause geside our national shrines to honor the names of our great ones, to consider their gifts to the country they loved and review their conceptions of the liberty they toiled to preserve.

The patrioism of Washington and Lincoln was of no ordinary type. Thy loved their country and gave her their unstinted devotion. They were not self seeking, enough for them to see the needs of those about them and to rendr superlative service.

Their visions of liberty were true visions; they saw her as she really is; not the giver of special privileges to a favored few, or to those srrong enough to take what they desired without reference to the needs of others. They saw and they fought for an all inclusive liberty that should be the rightful heitage of all, irrespective of race, color or the narrow restrictions of man made creeds. Truly, they sought nothing for themselves which they were unwilling to accord to others and that must be the pattern of the liberty we uphold today.

Liberty is not license; it gives no man who enjoys it, the right of encroaching upon the privieges of others. It recognizes the dignity of all men and would secure to the lowliest, as well the highest, the freedom of life and action for which Washington and Lincoln fough. To them, all men stood equal before the law of the land and those who refused to others the rights of free citizenship, were dishonoring that law and smearing the escutcheon of a brave a noble nation.

As we honor the names of the funder and the savior of our America, let us not forget the builders, who "working in the walls of time," reared a temple within whose sovereign influence all nations of the earth may find the pattern by which they, themselves, may build both nobly and well..

Let us remember that, "all are architects of fate, working in the walls of time" and let us also remember that the worthy builder of a better America and a better world, cannot afford to be hampered with he sordid burdens of bigotry, intolerance, false ambition, ignorance, and superstition. Jettison the unworthy burdens that impede your progress as individuals and as a nation. Loow upon liberty with a clear, unclouded vision, raise her standard high and win her golden gifts by the quality of service which we bring to her shrine.

Buiid today, then, strong and sure, with a firm and ample base; And ascending and secure shall tomorrow find its place. —Adeline Merriam Conner.

BROAD STREET

By
Harley M. Leete, Jr.

A newspaper man goes to an awful lot of meetings. It's surprising how much miscellaneous local knowledge you can pick up by the twin expedients of asking questions and listening. One thing you learn is that when an organization is "one hundred per cent behind" some project, this can usually be interpreted to mean it is way behind it—out of the running as far as actual help is concerned.

Only three things appear to count in the accomplishing of organizational work. They are money, work and ideas. Unless there is an active output in at least one and preferably two, of these divisions, not much practical results can be expected. Work can be measured in terms of hours and effort. Ideas cannot be measured, but require plenty of ingenuity, imagination and, for their fulfillment, work. Money is the simplest of all to measure, but it is just as hard as the other two to get.

In the field of community betterment, one of the most impressive things in recent months was the report of the Grass Valley chamber of Commerce. At the beginning of last year, this unit made public a set of plans and projects for 1946. The list was so ambitious that the scheme was one of the long range accomplishment, rather than a schedule to be confined to one year. Yet, in 1946, practically every object was accomplished. We won't go into detail here, because the list is as long as your arm, but the projects covered practically every field of civic endeavor..

Our own chamber had a good record of accomplishment for 1946. too. It illustrated a progressive and more energetic attitude toward public affairs. It occurs to me that it might be to the advantage of our chamber, while we are still near the beginning of the year, to draw up a specific set of plans and objectives for 1947, in order to have a clearly defined series of goals toward which to strive.

To many, Nevada City seems a "white spot" in the Sierras as far as adequate publicity goes. Many counties with nothing more to offer tourists than ours, have by clever and persistent publicity, long basked in the public eye. It may be that the real future of this county lies in attracting the tourist trade, which can be as rich an ore as ever found in the gold mines.

We had the misfortune to miss the last meeting of the city council, where we understand there was much lively discussion. A MOST unusual request, we hear, was put to the council. One to be filed under What Next? Need I mention the word, Spring Street?

At Tuesday's Chamber of Commerce meeting, details of closing business in deference to funerals of war veterans and prominent citizens were discussed. The practise is one that can easily run wild, and in my opinion should be virtually discontinued. When business houses close for the funeral of one or another person, it is increasingly difficult to say for whose funeral they are going to close and for whose, going to stay open. Kindly stay open for my funeral in about eighty years.

Your writer is batching it while his family enjoys the mists and fogs of San Francisco. Apparently some guardian angel is looking after him, however, for he finds odd jobs (banging doors planed down) done and cookies on the kitchen table mysteriously appearing in his absence. The moral of this story is: lead a good, clean, Christian life and Providence will look after you, providing you live in a friendly neighborhood.

ENGLE INTRODUCES NEW MINING BILL

WASHINGTON: In a move to encourage exploration and development Rep. Clair Engle has introduced a bill which provides for the location of mining claims even though there is no definite presence of mineral.

Under present law, a valid location of a mining claim cannot be made on public domain unless there is a physical discovery of mineral in place.

The measure further provides that claims could be held for one year while geological and geophysical prospecting work is in progress.

"As new mineral discoveries, based on outcrops, are being made with less and less frequency, it is necessary that we make it possible for prospectors to go under ground to locate new ore bodies and thus develop our resources," Engle said.

It was pointed out that present mining laws and methods of location would not be changed by the measure which applies only to a specific type of location.

The bill provides that prospecting and exploration data developed by a locator shall be made available to the government as part of an inventory of the nation's resources.

A similar bill has been introduced by Sen. James Murray of Montana.

Frank A. Tilton's Collie Is Wounded

Frank A. Tilton this week reported to the sheriff's office that his collie dog had been shot Sunday morning, apparently by someone using a .22 calibre rifle.

The bullet penetrated the dogs leg and fortunately did not break a bone. The dog is now in care of a veterinary. Mr. and Mrs. Tilton, who live on the Willow Valley road west of the county hospital, arose late Sunday morning and looking out of the window, saw their dog licking a wound. Examination revealed a bullet hole. The dog was very friendly with everyone in the neighborhood and the Tiltons are at a loss to know who would wish to destroy it.

Lemon grass and citronella now are being raised in quantity in Quatemala for use in scenting toilet soaps.

Veterans' News

Amputee veterans of World War II may purchase trucks, tractors, riding plows or other farm machinery at a cost not to exceed $1000 in place of the automobile being provided for each by the Federal Government, Col. Thomas J. Cross, Veterans Administration deputy administrator announced in San Francisco today.

While more than 350 eligible veterans in California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii have already received automobiles through the VA, many who live on farms have expressed a desire for practical machinery rather than the passenger car, it was pointed out. A decision by VAs central office has approved such purchases.

First veteran in this area to select a truck instead of a passenger vehicle was Harold Hannah, 234 Sunnyside Drive, San Leandro. Hannah, who lost a leg in the war, purchased a milk truck and now operates a milk delivery in San Leandro.

Under Public Law 663, veterans who lost a leg, or the use of a leg in World War II are entitled to an automobile costing no more than $1,600.

The U. S. Bureau of Human Nutrition reports that Americans were better fed during World War III than at any time in the past 37 years. During that time milk consumption increased from 169 quarts per capita in 1909 to 357 quarts in 1945.

Words of the Wise

Are you on his List!

Maybe you do not know it, but the real burglar with proper pride in his work, has a list of prospects just like any honest salesman. Maybe you are on one of those prospect lists and when your name is reached and this man in the black mask visits your home, what will happen? Would you like to replace your silverware; the furs and jewelry of your wife; and any other thing which catches the fancy of this second story worker? Probably not. That is why we suggest a Residence and Outside Theft Policy for your protection. It costs very little.

Our advice costs you nothing and places you under no obligation.

STANFORD BANQUET IN SACRAMENTO MARCH 7

SACRAMENTO: Alumni of Stanford University living in Nevada County are invited to a Stanford Founders Day dinner to be held in Sacramento March 7 in the Elks Temple.

Donald B. Tresidder, president of Stanford University, will be the banquet speaker..

"This will be my first opportunity since the end of the war to meet with the alumni in the Northern California area," said Dr. Tresidder, in his letter of acceptance.

"To observance of Founders Day will give us an exceptional opportunity to review the history of Stanford and to consider the prospect of the future."

Mrs. Margaret Ricci, president of the Sacramento Stanford women's clubs, is assisting Campbell in planning the affair, which is expected to attract an attendance of 400.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

That Ring Around the Bathtub

Joe Crowell blew his top the other day. Seems that for weeks he's been trying to get his youngsters to scrub out the bathtub after using it. And this night he sees two rings around it—one where young Sonny left off, and another about Pinky's level.

He raves and rants—and takes it out on the missus for her lack of discipline. And later that evening he sees her quietly polishing the hardwood table that's right by his chair. She's removing the rings he's left there with his evening glass of beer!

From now on, Jeb's careful to put his glass down on the table cover—like the missus does. And I hear he's a little more forgiving about rings around the bathtub. Just keeps on patiently reminding.

From where I sit, there are little annoyances in every family—conflicting habits and opinions in every community. A little patience—a little more "forgive and let live" is the only antidote.

It was decided to recommend to the city trustees the passage of an ordinance requiring property owners to sweep the chimneys of their buildings at least once a year in order to lower the hazard of the many chimney fires. The committee also recommended that property owners in the business portion of the town be compelled to lay concrete sidewalks and that the old wooden walks be renewed.

The woman figured in the case as the chattel of one of the parties involved and during the whole row adopted a passive policy. and seem to take no interest in the result. The man who did the cutting was not arrested, having left town immediately after the fracas.

Jesus Interviewed by Nicodemus — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—John 3. By Alfred J. Buescher

A Pharisee named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews, visited Jesus, saying to Him, "Rabbi, we know that Thou art a teacher come from God; for no man can do these miracles that Thou doest, except God be with him."

Jesus told Nicodemus that except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God, and as Nicodemus did not understand, Jesus went to some pains to explain that one must be born again spiritually.

After this Jesus and His disciples went into the land of Judaea; and Jesus baptized. John, the Baptist was also there and he also was baptizing, for John was not yet cast into prison, but was preaching.

Some of John's disciples questioned him about Jesus and His baptism of many. John answered that he had never said he was the Christ, but that he was sent before Him.

CHINESE SPEAKER COMES TO HIGH SCHOOL

No Yung Park, a Chinese graduate of Harvard 14 years ago, spoke on the subject "My Views on Life" at the high school Tuesday. In one of the best talks given at the high school this year, he told how a Chinese can save money by avoiding high-pressure salesmanship; while an American with the same income will go in debt because he cannot go without many luxuries. He spoke on "My Views of the World" in Nevada City Tuesday evening.

BEES LOSE TO ROSEVILLE YELLOWJACKETS WIN

A game that looked like a victory for the Nevada City Bumblebees in the first quarter with a 9 to 7 lead over Roseville; and was still a close game at the half with Nevada City trailing 15 to 16, the Roseville team took a decided lead in the last quarter, finishing up with a 36 to 29 victory. Joe Mardesa, center for Roseville, was high point man with 13 points; while Don Amos, another center, led Nevada City with 15 points.

The tables were turned in the A game. The Tigers led 23 to 20 at the half, but the Jackets made 9 out of 30 field tries, and the Tigers made 7 out of 33 field tries good. In addition, Nevada City made 3 free throws in the second half. That is why, in the second half, Nevaua City came up from a 3 point trailing and won with a 4 point lead. By the second half, three of the Roseville first string players had four fouls, but the only foul out was George Mandich, the 6.4 center for the Tigers, who was also high point man with 16 points. Mandich's rival, who evened up the game, was Jack Coley, the 6.4 center for the Yellowjackets. He was NC's high point man with 17 points. The majorettes performed at the half of the A game..

PRO WRESTLERS STRUGGLE IN DARK WHEN LIGHTS FAIL

GRASS VALLEY: Neither rain nor thunder nor lack of lights prevented the wrestlers at the Memorial Auditorium Tuesday night from continuing their strenuous bouts. In the main event between Bill Hansen and Tom Rice, the contest was continued under a hastily secured battery flood light when electric service was interrupted by the terrific storm outside..

Rice won the first fall in the first 20 minutes of the bout. Three minutes later, Hansen took the second fall. Hansen got the third fall in 50 minutes. Rice was thrown out of the ring onto the timekeepers bench. The bench broke under his weight. The bout ended as Rice was struck on the head by the time keepers bell.

When the lights went out at 10:30 Rice and Hansen continued fighting in the dark, aided at first by matches lit by spectators, then by flashlights, and finally by the glow of a battery floodlight.

Hansen retains the Pacific Coast Heavyweight Championship.

In the prelim, Mickey Casey, the Pride of Dublin battled Mike Burnell the Mississippi Terror to a draw in 30 minutes. In the semi-final, Lucky Sumunovich, the champion of Jugo-Slavia bested Hans Busing, champion of the islands, in two falls in 34 minutes.

SCOUT RALLY SET FOR MARCH FIRST

With scout week displays taking the attention of many citizens as a preliminary, Maurice E. Witting, of Grass Valley announced today—as general chairman that plans were going forward for the annual scout rally in Roseville high school gymnasium for Saturday evening, March 1. This year it should attract many more scouts and parents than last year—it having been the first year of this traditional event since the war.

A committee among who are Harry Poole, Charles Laupp, council commissioner and Ronald Brill of Roseville are working very closely with Witting on this activity.

SCOUT FIELD EXECUTIVE EMPLOYED

Announcement was made today from Judge Lowell L. Sparks, president of the Tahoe area council that Melville O. Johns had been employed as the new field scout executive of the Tahoe area council. John is a native of Grass Vayley, a former Eagle scout and scoutmaster of this council, was employed for four years as field executive of Monterey bay area council at Salinas, served for three years in the United States navy where he had a fine career. He is a graduate of the Grass Valley high school where he was prominent as an athlete. Last year he served on the Camp Pahatsi staff and now he comes to his home council as a professional scouter. Although residing in the Grass Valle district he will give his attention and service to the entire area working with and under the direction of Robert H. Frank, scout executive. With the employing of Johns it will now be possible to render more efficient and effective service to the present and prospective sponsoring institutions, leaders and committeemen throughout the area. It will also be a definite step forward in the development of the Tahoe area council in serving more boys in the cub scouting, scouting and senior scouting programs. Johns is also a graduate of the National Scout executives training school at Mendham, New Jersey.

VETERANS URGED TO FILE TERMINAL LEAVE CLAIMS

GRASS VALLEY: The large number of veterans who have not as yet filed application for terminal leave pay are urged today to do so immediately.

W. N. McCormack, Nevada County Veterans Service officer stresses that applications should be made well ahead of the September 1st deadline to avoid any confusion or delay in settlement that might result from a last minute rush..

According to figures received here, fewer than 50 per cent of veterans eligible to file applications have applied. Approximately one-third of the forms filed have been returned to the applicant because of errors in the application, making it necessary for the veteran to file a new claim. After four months during which the veterans were able to file application for the unused leave pay, all branches of the service are alarmed at the delay veterans are causing in the settlement of payments.

At the end of 1946, of a total of 12,500,000 eligible to make application to the army, approximately 5,000,000 have filed their claims. Of 3,500,000 who could make application to the navy only 1,620,000 have applied. Veterans who have not filed claims may secure application forms and assistance in filing them out at the Nevada County Veterans Service office, located at their new offices, 310 W. Main Street, Grass Valley, where Mr. McCormack and his assistant Coral Morton are located.
